

Reality Ride Elementary Journal: Conclusion Activity For Overview Lesson

Have students turn to the Introductory Activity page for The Reality Ride chapter of their WhyTry Journals. Or give the students a paper and have them each write three things about themselves. Have them write one thing that is real and two things that are fantasy. You may want to share three things about yourself as an example. Then have them take turns reading the three things and have the class members try to guess which is the reality.
